New Project Features – Snapshot Project View, Tags & Filters

May 25
2010

We wanted to share some exciting news about new features in Projects. As you may have noticed, we significantly changed the way you view your legal and business projects in Onit. Now, you can quickly see a central view of all of your projects with user status, reminders and recent activity.

You can also filter projects by activity, project name, and stale activity (no activity in the last two weeks). Creating and applying tags to your projects is another new feature that helps you stay organized and allows you to quickly search for projects with similar tags.

Onit Advisory Group: We Need Your Expertise

We are hard at work trying to spec out our electronic billing and legal spend management module but we need a few brave individuals to assist us. Although we have a decent amount of legal domain experience to guide us, we lack more voices from our target market. Who exactly makes up our target market? Simply put, it's the companies between $1 billion and $4.5 billion in revenue. Generally, these are companies just below the Fortune 500.

That's why today I am announcing the formation of the Onit Advisory Group (OAG). This team of legal professionals will participate in the strategic development of our legal spend management module. Membership in the advisory group is by invitation-only but I strongly encourage you to email me at jill.black@onit.com if you or a colleague is interested in participating. Just think, how often do you get to influence the strategic development of a new product in the legal industry? Don't miss out on this opportunity.
